*T*eaching Art to Children, The Marvegos® Way provides parents and art educators with a roadmap to follow in assisting children to be self-confident, self-directed and independent art-makers...to be and express who they are in their generation.

The Marvegos® way of teaching art to children:

- Exercises creativity by providing loosely structured projects.
- Provides activities appropriate to children at particular developmental stages.
- Entrusts children with making creative choices which engage their minds in ways other forms of learning do not.
- Guides children to build awareness of things outside of themselves.
- Provides a program that involves solving problems, making decisions, using resources, handling disappointments, taking risks, enjoying success and adapting to change.
